SUPERINTENDENT

OF HEALTH A FORMER LICKING COUNTY MAN.

Director of Public Safety Philbrick Names J. M. McKendree Smith at Columbus.

Columbus, O., June 9.—Col. C. C. Philbrick, director of public safety, notified the civil service commission Saturday night of the appointment of Dr. J. McKendree Smith of 27 West Tenth avenue, to the position of superintendent of the health department. Dr. Smith has been acting superintendent and has impressed all who have had any dealings with the department that he is a man of excellent executive ability and eminently fitted for the position.

Dr. Smith is a comparatively young man, having been born in Westerville in 1862. He taught school most of his life until he came to this city from the southern part of the state and took a course in the Ohio Medical university which ended in his graduation in 1901. He went through the public schools of Westerville and Franklin county, graduating from Otterbein university. For a number of years he was superintendent of schools in Johnstown, Licking county. He went from there to Lancaster, O., where he was principal of the schools there. He became principal of the high school in Ironton and afterward superintendent of the schools until he came to Columbus to finish his medical studies.

PARDON

Granted Adolph Hayes by Governor Nash—Was Serving a Life Sen- tence in Pen.

Columbus, O., June 9.—Governor Nash today granted a pardon to Adolph Hayes who was sent to the penitentiary from Jefferson county in 1896 to serve a life sentence for alleged incest. The pardon was granted on the ground that Hayes is innocent and his conviction was the result of a conspiracy between his wife and the accusing daughter. Hayes had chastised his wife and daughter for supposed improper conduct and they disposed of him by swearing him into the pen. Since then their life in Wheeling has been notorious.

ENGLAND GIVES THANKS.

London, June 9.—The thanksgiving services held in London Sunday were typical of the services held throughout the empire, but the presence of King Edward and other members of the royal family at the principal devotional services in London, and the progress of the royal personages to and from St. Paul's Cathedral through cheering thousands of British subjects and visitors in London, gave Thanksgiving Day in the metropolis the added feature of a notable historic occasion.

The harbor is to be improved and a railroad built to Port de France.

Trinite has a population of 6,743 and is in a rich territory. It is located on the northeastern side of the island, almost directly east of St. Pierre. A large number of refugees have been put to work on the streets of Trinite.

The union is young, but has a membership of 30, who are all hustlers. They will give an exhibition of pole climbing and hand line throwing, such as they do in their business. This will be a great treat to all interested in this work and should not be missed. There will be a game of base ball between the Newark team and the pole shimmers, a picked team from the members of the union. The boys will ask their friends to help in making the outing a success and invite all friends of the union to attend.

OHIO CANAL

VOLUME OF BUSINESS AT THIS POINT IN 1837-1838.

Official Report for Those Two Years Found in the Old Newark Week- ly Gazette.

It seems hard to realize but it is true nevertheless that the Ohio canal until within the past few years was the highway to Newark over which practically all the freight passed.

Now in the days of the steam and electric roads the old canal is forgotten, but a glance at the following figures will be of interest in showing the volume of business done at this point 65 years ago. The clipping is taken from the Newark Gazette and Farmers' Journal, dated December 12, 1833:

The following statement of the amount of tolls collected at Newark during the year 1838, as compared with 1837, we cut from the Constitutionalist, for which print it was furnished by the collector:

A NEW GAME

Cloakroom Habitués Win Refresh- ments by Means of Electric Wheel of Fortune.

Washington, June 9.—There is a new form of gambling going on in the House cloakroom. Formerly the members played greenback poker for drinks, but since the installation of six-pronged electric fans even matching pennies has become obsolete.

Each prong of the fan is numbered and the players each select a number. The player holding the number that falls opposite the upright support of the fan "buys" for the entire party. The game is very popular, but the switches controlling the current are about worn out by the constant turning on and shutting off of the current.

KILL ALL WHITES

WAS THE ORDER OF THE MARCH- ING NEGROES.

Call to Band Together, Exterminate And Burn—The Citizens Took a Determined Stand.

Meridian, Miss., June 9.—A threatened uprising of the negroes, which so alarmed the people north of Meridian, has been frustrated by the determined stand of the whites, who armed themselves and placed the leaders of the gang, Green Johnson and Nate Moore, under arrest.

A call for the negroes to band themselves against the whites was addressed to Nate Moore and signed by a negro Baptist preacher named Buffin. The latter said that a mob of 50 negroes would form at Rio, Kemper county, 25 miles northeast of Meridian, and march to Green Johnson's house, and from there through the country and kill all the whites, destroy their farms and burn their houses.

As soon as the whites learned of the purpose of the negroes, who outnumbered the whites two to one, they armed themselves with Winchester rifles, and in a short time had so intimidated the negroes that it is now thought the uprising is at an end.

The people of threatened districts, however, are very much alarmed and will be on the alert until all danger shall have passed. The people of Marion, from which the news first reached the city, are much wrought up and prepared for emergencies at a moment's notice.

Hattiesburg, Miss., June 9.—An attempt was made by a mob Saturday night to attack the county jail here in which was confined Walter Blankhead, a negro, charged with having attempted to assault Mrs. Garner, a white woman living near Hattiesburg. A company of military, ordered out by Governor Longino, however, repulsed the mob, which afterward dispersed. Further trouble is feared and additional troops have been dispatched to relieve the military on duty.

Decatur, Ind., June 9.—The stories of trouble between the whites and negroes in this city are greatly exaggerated. All the negroes who have been in town have left. During the past week they received letters notifying them to leave. Two who were employed at the Barthol hotel remained until Saturday night. There are now no negroes here and there will be no further trouble.

STORM

HAS COST AT LEAST EIGHT LIVES AT NEW YORK.

SEVERAL PLEASURE BOATS ARE STILL MISSING.

GALE RAGED ABOUT NEW YORK.

More Than 100 Sloops and Cat Boats Caught in the Storm and Had a Terrible Time.

New York, June 9.—Eight lives are known to have been lost by drowning as a result of a great gale that raged about New York from noon yesterday till well into the night. Many others, it is believed, perished on pleasure craft. The known dead are Dillingham Rover, Wm. Helferich, Alexander Winslow, Maurice Silver, David Kerr, Hugh McKean, Harry Leffler and Louis Friend, who all were out in sail boats.

More than 100 sloops and cat boats, each with a party of from four to fifteen amateur fishermen on board were caught in the gale on the fishing banks off Rockaway beach. They had a terrible time as the wind blew at a rate of 40 to 70 miles an hour.

Several of the pleasure boats caught in the storm are still missing today.

IN HAWAII

More Than Usual Amount of Steam is Thrown Out From the Vol- canoes There.

San Francisco, June 9.—Reports have been received from the island of Hawaii in Hawaii that the volcanoes are showing more than usual activity. The captain of the schooner Eclipse reports that he saw a column of flame from the crater of Mokuaweowe, which is near the summit of Mauna Lao, 13,000 feet above the sea, and has long been quiescent. It is high above Kilauea, the active volcano.

A steamer arriving Saturday confirms the report of activity. The Kanai, which left Hawaii two days ago, reports a large column of smoke above the crater of Kilauea. The crater is always steaming and smoking more or less, but it is at present reported to be sending up much more than the usual amount of smoke.

"DR." DOWIE

Shouts Wisdom to Waukegan Follow- ers—Makes Some Extraordinary Remarks in a Sermon.

Waukegan, Ill., June 9.—John Alexander Dowie preached Sunday to the faithful in Zion City. It was the most remarkable address he has yet delivered. He said:

"May the Lord have mercy on you miserable sinners who want more than eight hours sleep. Men, you miserable sinners, get up early and give your wives a cup of milk while they are in bed. Women, if you have miserable, lazy husbands report them to me and I will give them hell Columbia. I will try a horn, and if that does not work I will yell fire. I will teach you all to get up early and work. There is another thing: You will have to stop this roving about nights. Ten o'clock is late enough for anybody to be out. Those found in the streets after that will be sent to the city prison."

MANY HURT

EXCURSION TRAIN WRECKED IN MICHIGAN,

When Air Brakes Were Applied Sud- denly, Cars Left Track—Only One Man Killed.

Alpena, Mich., June 9.—An excursion train on the Detroit and Mackinaw railroad, which left here Sunday for Saginaw, consisting of an engine and 12 coaches and carrying over 500 people, was wrecked at Black River, while running 40 miles an hour. One man was instantly killed, three were probably fatally injured and nearly 50 others received injuries of various degrees of severity, ranging from bruises and cuts to broken limbs. The man killed was August Grosinski, Alpena.

When the train reached Black river the tender jumped the track. Engineer Hopper instantly set the brakes and reversed his engine. The sudden stop threw the first three coaches of the train off the track and into the ditch. The first car was thrown half around and the next two coaches plowed through it and cut it in two. August Grosinski, the only person killed, was seated in this coach with 46 other excursionists. His body was terribly crushed and death was instantaneous.

The escape of the others in the car was wellnigh miraculous. Grosinski's little son occupied the same seat with him but the lad was uninjured. The three wrecked coaches were piled up in a heap and two hundred feet of track was torn up. As soon as the occupants of the uninjured coaches recovered from the shock and surprise, they rushed to the wrecked cars and began aiding the injured. They were extricated from the wreck with frantic haste and given all possible help, pending the arrival of the relief train. This train brought eight surgeons from Alpena. After temporary dressings had been made of the most serious wounds, all the injured were brought back to this city, where the surgeons worked over them until late last night.

STILL CONCEALING FACTS AND PERSECUTING MILES.

That which will most interest the people in connection with the latest assault on General Miles is the new proof which it supplies that the war department and the administration, instead of frankly publishing facts, as they have been pretending to do for some time past, are still trying to conceal things that have been done and are done in the Philippines.

Why all these evidences of wrath in the war department and the white house? Why was General Miles peremptorily ordered back from his western inspection tour to Washington as fast as steam could carry him? Because some more Philippine secrets had been communicated to Senators and through them to the public.

And the gang of partisan tools around the war department at once set up the howl that the Lieutenant General of the army must be court-martialed because somebody had "leaked" although the Senator making the exposition distinctly relieved General Miles of any such imputation.

True, it was General Miles who exposed the sacred secret that Major Gardiner had made an interesting report that had been suppressed by the war department, which led the Senatorial Committee to demand that said report be sent in for the Senate's information.

It was because of his instrumentality in bringing about the exposure that the President was on the point of retiring him from the army, when a strong delegation of Senators intimated to him that such a proceeding would be strongly resented by gentlemen who could make things uncomfortable for him in executive sessions of the Senate.

From this condition of affairs two important presumptions appear. One is that the war department is suppressing something of importance to the people and which they are entitled to know. The other is that General Miles probably knows all about it.

A Democratic House of Representatives is needed to get at the bottom of this thing.

A GREAT ART SCHOOL.

California Indorses the Proposed National Institution.
[Special Correspondence]
San Francisco, June 4.—It is significant that the congressional bill to appropriate money for the establishment at Washington of an American national art school should come from the west, not from the east. Representative Metcalf of California is sponsor for the measure in the house, Mr. Mason of Illinois in the senate.

California has also a most enthusiastic private citizen, Colonel Henry L. Kowalsky, who travels often to Europe to feast his soul on the magnificent art works in the galleries there. He is an art lover, an art critic, and knows as well as any the needs of American students. He is talking eloquently for a great and complete art school at the national capital, an institution equal to those in Europe.

For years San Francisco has had an excellent art school—as such institutions go in America, one of the best. And a number of the most gifted and accomplished painters and sculptors the country has produced took their rise in the Golden State. But, mark you, every one of these was obliged to go and remain years abroad studying and training in the art schools there, mostly Paris.

It is a melancholy fact, too, that several of the best, after getting their training and even exhibiting a number of times in the Paris Salon, are obliged to live in Europe to find a market for their work. Their own fellow citizens who would not look at their pictures at home buy the same for a fat price in Paris. Some endeavored to establish themselves in the United States, but were starved out and forced to abandon the patriotic purpose. I recall two San Francisco artists of whom this is true.

One young American artist excelled along a given line. He accomplished himself patiently and thoroughly, lived and worked in poverty abroad, of course, for there was no school at home where he could learn. In his chosen field he became known to the world over. He came home to a large and very rich American city, carrying with him the pictures that had won prizes and certificates in Paris itself. He opened a studio and waited. Some wealthy society ladies who patronized art admired his pictures, but did not buy. The young man had as yet not an illustrious name, though his paintings were remarkable. The fine ladies hemmed and hawed around him and finally proposed to him that he should put upon his pictures the name of the great artist who painted in the same line: then they would buy. Nobody would know any better, they urged.

The artist raised his eyes to heaven. "And this is art in America!" he exclaimed. He shook the dust of his native land from his feet in horror, packed up his wares and returned to Europe, where he has remained ever since, making beautiful pictures for Englishmen, Frenchmen and occasionally an American, but never again returning to this country. Now when he sees an American artist going home with the expectation of settling there he exclaims: "Going to stay in America? How I hate you!"

"GOING TO STAY IN AMERICA? HOW I HATE YOU!"

This story is absolutely true, and it is a sufficient comment on art in our country. Either a talented young American must stay at home and for want of proper models and teaching never get further than whopper jawed delineations or he must live abroad and be denationalized.

Gifted young men and women artists should not be forced to go away to find a proper school. The proper school should come to them.

argues Representative Metcalf of California. If the institution is established, it will have branches in different cities of this big country, so that the expenses of travel for poor students will not be so great. One of these branches will be in San Francisco, for California promises to furnish more artistic talent, especially among women, than any other state.

FASCINATING DANGER.

The Perils That Beset the Builders of Big Bridges.

The design of a long bridge span is one of the most elaborate mathematical problems that arise in constructive work. The stresses produced by its own weight, by the weight of traffic, by locomotive drivers, by the hammering of flat-tired wheels, by the action of brakes on an express train, by the high speed on a curved track, by the wind and by the expansion and contraction of the steel in summer and winter are all accurately calculated. The deflection of the loaded and unloaded bridge is determined, and complete drawings are made of every member of it. The bars of steel are tested in machines which will pull in two a horsehair or a steel bar strong enough to lift half a score of the heaviest locomotives at once, and which will crush an eggshell or a steel column, and accurately measure the stress in each case. The different kinds of members are forged, riveted, bored, or planed in perhaps half a dozen remote shops, and, although usually not fitted together there, are examined and measured by specialists to see that they are correct, and are then shipped by scores of railroads to the site of the proposed structure, where steam derricks unload them and pile them many feet high in stacks covering acres of ground.

The bridge piers may rise above the water hundreds of feet apart. It remains to place them on a thousand-ton structure, high above a savage chasm, over an impassable current or roaring tide, where the water is deep, the bottom of jagged rocks or treacherous quicksand, or where an old bridge must be removed and the new one built in its place without interrupting traffic on the bridge. To accomplish this the engineer has trolleys, bolts and ropes, hoisting engines, derricks and a band of intrepid builders who have perhaps followed him for years through more hardship and danger than fall to the lot of almost any other calling.

The complicated framework of a great span is a skeleton with many accurate joints and thousands of steel sinews and bones, each of which must go in exactly the right place in exactly the right order. The builder must weave into the trusses pieces larger, heavier and far more indestructible than whole tree trunks, swiftly hoist and swing them to place hundreds of feet high, fit together the massive girders and huge forged bars with watchmaker's accuracy, support the unwieldy masses until they are keyed together and self sustaining, and under millions of pounds of stress must adjust them at dizzy heights to mathematical lines. This he may need to do not deliberately, but in dangerous emergencies, at utmost speed, putting forth his whole strength on narrow, springing planks in a furious tempest, in bitter cold or in blazing heat. He may be in the heart of an African desert, menaced by bloodthirsty fanatics, or in a gorge of the Andes, hundreds of miles from tools or supplies, where there is absolutely no supplement to his own resources. Under such conditions bridge building is one of the most fascinating and difficult of engineering problems and requires a different solution for almost every case.—Frank W. Skinner in Century.

Garefully Prepared Census Now Being Taken and Advocate Readers Have An Opportunity

To Secure a Little Money Without Effort and Without Expense—The Only Condition is Each Guess Must be Accompanied by Paid in Advance Subscription to the Daily Advocate for Five Weeks.

The sum of Two Hundred Dollars in Gold has been deposited in the bank to the Advocate's credit for free distribution among the readers of the Daily Advocate upon conditions which will permit every subscriber to participate.

This money will be given in thirty-five prizes to those who will do a little figuring and place the result of their calculations on a coupon clipped from the Advocate and deposit it at this office with a paid in advance subscription to the Daily Advocate for five weeks. In other words any subscriber may take part in the contest and free distribution of prizes by paying five weeks in advance for the paper, (all arrearages must first be settled) or any new subscriber may send his estimate to this office by paying 50 cents, for which sum the Daily Advocate will be sent to any address in the city of the United States for a period of five weeks.

ONE MAY GUESS AS OFTEN AS HE CHOOSES providing each guess or estimate is accompanied by 50 cents for five weeks' subscription to the paper.

Now as to the nature of the contest: The Advocate has several reputable persons engaged in taking the census of Newark. The work is being done with greater accuracy and more care than was the official census of 1900. Every building in the city (none beyond the corporation lines) is being visited and a careful record is being made of the names and number of the dwellers in each building. The work is being done by experienced census takers and under the system employed nobody can escape and none can be duplicated. The result will show the exact population of Newark on June 1, 1902.

In 1890 Newark had a population of 14,289, and the official census of 1900 showed that there were 18,157 people living in Newark two years ago. WHAT IS THE POPULATION OF THIS THRIVING LITTLE CITY TODAY? Here is a pointer that will help you to arrive at an intelligent conclusion. The school enumerators have just reported that there are 5,070 school youth between the ages of 6 and 21 year living in Newark.

The census taking is being done without collusion among the enumerators, who each report to a gentleman in another city who makes a specialty of just such work as this. No person in the Advocate office will see any report or will know any more about the result than any reader of the paper until the time for distribution of the fund, but to guard against what might appear to be partially, a rule has been established that no employee of the Advocate Company can participate in the contest directly or indirectly.

DISTRIBUTION OF PRIZES.

To the person making the nearest estimate of the actual population of Newark.....	$50
To the second	$25
To the third	$20
To the fourth	$15
To the fifth	$10
To the next five nearest ($5 each)	$25
To the next ten nearest ($2.50 each)	$25
To the next fifteen nearest ($2 each)	$30

In all 35 prizes amounting to $200

This is what is wanted:
Send your estimate of what the population of Newark was on June 1, 1902 (men, women and children included) with 50 cents to the Advocate Printing Company, Newark Ohio, not later than 12 o'clock noon, August 16, 1902. The estimate must be made on a coupon clipped from the Advocate, and be mailed or left at the Advocate counting room with remittance for which the paper will be sent to any address designated. Before any old subscriber can participate in the contest all indebtedness for past subscription must be paid.

This contest is started primarily to stimulate the interest of our people in the growth of our popular little city, more intimately familiarize them with its progress and prosperity, and at the same time provide an interesting and intellectual contest in which every one has an equal opportunity to secure one of 35 cash prizes, and by which the paper may be introduced into new homes.

The Advocate is the best and most popular paper in Newark and once a subscriber in nine of ten cases, always a subscriber. The Advocate gives special attention to the home news, to Licking county news, and Ohio news, with special correspondence from many points and the telegraph service of the Scripps McRae Press Association. Read the Advocate regularly and keep posted.

B. & O. EXCURSIONS

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad and the Civil War, 1861-1865.

It was the first and most desirable point of vantage coveted by both the Federal and Confederate armies. In May, 1861, the four Federal advance columns concentrated at Parkersburg, W. Va., Wheeling, W. Va., Harper's Ferry, W. Va., and at Washington. To retain the advantage, the Federal Government established block houses along the railroad from the Monocacy to the Ohio river, besides forts at Winchester, Harper's Ferry, Cumberland, Piedmont and New Creek (Keyser). The B. & O. was the base of operations for the Federal army for nearly four years and from which the government could not take advance line earlier than November 1864. The B. & O. was the means of communication between the West and the Army of the Potomac, and was consequently in a continual state of siege. Harper's Ferry, the key to the Shenandoah Valley, first famed through the fabled attempt of John Brown, in defying the laws and customs of his country, was captured and recaptured eight times in three years. The Government Arsenal and armories which were located there, were destroyed by the government to prevent their capture. One hundred and seventy-nine battles of greater or less importance were fought on or adjacent to the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, not taking into consideration the innumerable skirmishes.

All through trains from St. Louis, Louisville, Cincinnati, Chicago, Columbus, Cleveland, Wheeling and Pittsburgh to the East, run via Washington.

Excursion tickets are sold every Sunday between all local stations west of the Ohio river on the Baltimore & Ohio at rate of one fare for the round trip, good going and returning on date of sale only.

COLORADO, UTAH, SOUTH DAKOTA.—The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Co. will sell low rate excursion tickets to points in Colorado, Utah and South Dakota during June, July, August and September.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

Licking county received the Normal Banner at the Ohio State Sunday school convention last week at Findlay, Ohio, for having the largest number of normal students in the state. The convention was largely attended and was enthusiastic from beginning to end. The state secretary made a special mention of the work done in Licking county.

There were four delegates from Licking county, E. L. Taylor of Alexandria, Rev. and Mrs. Yantis of Newark and W. A. Holmes of Granville.

SIDE LIGHTS ON HISTORY.

Curious Letters by a Harvard Man Who Served Under Washington.

Some curious side lights on history, as valuable in their way as the more serious studies, are found in a little collection of letters from a Revolutionary soldier which are preserved in the Harvard library. They were written to relatives and friends in New Hampshire by one William Weeks, a Harvard graduate, who was an officer in Washington's army.

Home-sickness must have been severe at times, though in one of his letters from Valley Forge this soldier seems to have had a hard struggle between his natural pleasure at the honors which he was fortunate enough to be accorded and his nostalgia. "This Day," he writes, "I must be at Gen'l Sullivan's to take dinner with him, the other day I had as great an honour conferred upon me—I had the Honour to take a Glass of Wine with Gen'l Washington & his Lady—But at the same time I should count as great an Honour to have the satisfaction of seeing, conversing & taking a Glass of Wine with my—Friends at Home."

There is a curious indication of the state of mind in the Continental army at times during the war in another letter, where Mr. Weeks says, "If my Wages were not higher than I expected when at Home, I would by no means tarry, but as they are raised, and for the Love I have for the Country, I can by no Means think of leaving the Army."

That the manner of obtaining a Harvard degree has changed radically in the last hundred years appears in a paragraph written at Valley Forge in 1778. Weeks had taken his A. B. three years before that, but evidently was anticipating an A. M. "As the campaign is coming on," he wrote, "I have but little expectation of coming home for my degree." But it appears that in consideration of the $10 which his family forwarded to the college in response to this request the desired honor was conferred.

Photographs on linen and silk are becoming popular for pillow covers, handkerchiefs, etc.

TICKET NAMED BY THE DEMOCRACY OF LICKING COUNTY.

Vote Canvassed at Convention Room of Court House Monday Morning. The Figures.

The meeting for the canvass of the vote of Saturday's primary election, was held in the convention room of the Court House this morning, the supervisors of the election all being present. At 10 o'clock the meeting was called to order by A. J. Crilly, chairman of the Democratic Central Committee, whereupon B. J. Jackson of Liberty township, was made secretary, and Joseph Axline of Summit Station, assistant secretary, and F. L. Ferguson and W. D. Benner acted as tellers.

After canvassing the vote of the several wards and precincts, an adjournment was taken until 1:30 p. m. When the afternoon session was begun the results that are given in the abstract of votes published in the Advocate, were announced by Chairman Crilly and declared the Democratic ticket to be as follows:

For Probate Judge, Waldo Taylor.

For Sheriff, W. H. Anderson, Jr.

For Prosecuting Attorney, J. R. Fitzgibbon.

For County Commissioner, Joseph E. Brownfield.

For County Surveyor, C. P. Knisely.

For Infirmary Director, Charles S. Howard.

For Coroner, Scott J. Evans.

for County Commissioner, thanked the Democracy for the honor that had been conferred on him in making him their nominee for the office. He expressed the hope that peace and harmony would exist in the ranks of the party and that if this was done the Democracy would win a big victory this fall.

Judge E. M. P. Brister, candidate for the nomination of Probate Judge made a strong and able plea for party harmony. He had always done all in his power for the success of the party, and proposed to do all he could this fall to elect the whole ticket. He said at the same time he emphasized his intention to support the nominee for the office of Probate Judge.

Mr. George P. Webb, candidate for the nomination of Probate Judge, thanked the friends who had stood by him. He said that he was a Democrat, and that he had gone into the battle to win, but that the decision of the Democratic party had been against him, and that he should abide by that decision. He signified his intention of voting for all the nominees and the entire ticket, and said that if all Democrats would work as hard for the success of the ticket as he proposed doing, a big victory would crown their efforts.

John M. Swartz, who was defeated for the nomination of Probate Judge also proved himself to be a true blue Democrat. He said that whatever powers he had or whatever he could do for the success of the party he would do. He proposed not only to vote for the nominees but to do all he could for the election of the entire ticket; that he had no sores, only the one caused by his fall at the election on Saturday. He urged that there be no dissatisfaction and that all Democrats should be loyal to the party.

J. R. Fitzgibbon, the nominee for Prosecuting Attorney, thanked the party not for himself, but for the appreciation it had for the young men of the party. He said that he would leave no stone unturned for the success of the party at the polls this fall and pledged himself that if elected he would so conduct the office that no one would ever regret the action of the Democracy in nominating him for the office.

Sheriff W. H. Anderson, Jr., felt highly gratified over his nomination. He said that he had endeavored to give the people of the county an honest and faithful administration, and renewed the pledge to give them a

TWO ODD FISHES.

The Changeable Pink Hind and the Rainbow Hued Parrot Fish.

The clear, limpid waters that surround Bermuda and the West Indies lie above coral reefs covered with plants and animals, many of which are brilliant in color as a rainbow. They look like glimpses of fairyland, and as your eye wanders from one wonder to another you catch yourself striving to peek just around some corner into a strange nook, half hoping to see a bevy of mermaids and mermen sporting and playing within the crannies. Here is a patch of pale-green sea lettuce, there a group of great purple sea fans, yonder some golden corals standing out like a shelf or branching like a tree, while among them all swim lovely fishes that take the place of the fairies that should dwell in this magic land and fascinate you by their gorgeous colors and their graceful, wavy motions.

There is a great green "parrot fish," as brilliant in color as his namesake the bird, showing himself boldly and swimming along slowly, secure from any assault. His scales are green as the fresh grass of springtime, and each one is bordered by a pale bluish line. His fins are pink, and the end of the tail is banded with nearly every color of the rainbow. He is shrewd, but his shrewdness serves him a good purpose. His flesh is bitter and poisonous to man and probably so to other fishes as well, and they let him well alone, for they can recognize him afar off, thanks to his saucy dress.

Underneath the parrot, lying on the bottom, is a "pink hind." You notice him, and as the parrot passes over him he suddenly changes to bright scarlet and as quickly resumes his former faint color. Had the parrot been looking for his dinner and thought the hind would make a good first course this sudden change of color might have scared him off, just as the sudden bristling of a cat makes a dog change his mind. When the hind is disturbed at night, he gives out flashes of light to startle the intruder and send him away in a fright.—Professor C. L. Bristol in St. Nicholas.

THE HOLY CITY.

Jerusalem Still Resembles a Great Fortress of Middle Ages.

Jerusalem is literally "built upon its own heap." Below the houses, courts and paved streets of the present unkept city are the distinguishable remains of eight older cities—those of Solomon, Nebuchadnezzar, Hadrian, Constantine, Omar, Godfrey, Saladin, Suleiman—writes Walter Williams from the Holy City to his paper in Columbia, Mo.

Jerusalem has been besieged twenty-seven times, a record of vicissitude unparalleled in the history of the world's cities. It has been burned, sacked, razed to the ground, its inhabitants of every faith put to the sword, all the woes uttered by its own prophets against it have come to pass, yet Jerusalem still resembles a great fortress of the middle ages. Seen from the Mount of Olives, its massive gray walls, its flat roofed houses, its mosques and churches with their conspicuous towers and minarets, present a marvelous picture, beautiful, sublime, unending, from the picture gallery of the mind.

The city itself has narrow, dirty streets. The water supply for its 70,000 people comes in a four inch pipe. The open courts are few and small, and the houses are bunched together with no regard for room or cleanliness. Some houses are underground and others on top of the high inclosing walls. The people are fanatical, ignorant, selfish. There is much to detract from the ideal city, but despite all this and more Jerusalem from the Mount of Olives is the same in its essential details, the same in the framework of its setting, the same in fascinating suggestion, as the Jerusalem of which David sang and over which Jesus wept.

NEW

Green Stamp Collectors

ARE NOT THE FOOLS

That the Sperry & Hutchison Company assume them to be. In last Friday night's papers they announced that the firms of Meyer Bros. & Co. and Ed. Doe would go back to giving the Sperry & Hutchinson stamps exclusively. Most every merchant in Newark, every stamp collector knows that these firms have signed a contract to give only the New Green Trading Stamps issued by the Merchants Premium Stamp Co. The above firms, as well as others of Newark and vicinity gave the Sperry & Hutchison Co. a chance to carry out their agreement and redeem their stamps, which all parties concerned know they failed to do. The merchants of this city wanted a Trading Stamp Company that would carry out their agreement with both the collectors of stamps and themselves, for that reason we established a branch in this city.

WE ARE NOT BACKED BY A MILLION DOLLAR CAPITAL

But we have ample capital and integrity enough to carry out all contracts and agreements we have made with both the merchants and stamp collectors. In our five years business experience with the merchants who give our green stamps free with purchases, we have found that ninety-nine out of one hundred of them are reliable, honorable merchants, whose word is as good as their bond. Just because several wolves, who parade in sheep's clothing can be induced to break their word of honor--their written contract--it is no reason why others will do so. The merchants who are now giving the New Green Stamps surely have not forgotten how the old defunct Stamp Co. failed to fulfill their contract with them.

NEITHER THE MERCHANTS WHO GIVE THE NEW GREEN STAMPS OR THEIR CUSTOMERS WHO COLLECT THEM RUN ANY CHANCES OF BEING FLEEDED BY WOLVES

We are proud of our record--proud of our good name in Columbus and other cities in Central Ohio, where we are now doing business, and you may rest assured that

The Merchants Premium Stamp Company is in Newark to Stay.

We will carry out every agreement and contract we have made; we also expect every merchant who has signed a contract to give the New Green Trading Stamps to do the same; No matter what bribe a million dollar concern might offer them to do otherwise. The Sperry & Hutchinson Company openly announced that they would drive us out of Newark if it cost them $100,000. According to their idea, there must be little virtue among the merchants of Newark, when they assume that they can bribe the majority of them to break their contract with us. When you wish to buy of merchants giving trading stamps go to any of the honorable firms whose names appear in our directory. Do you not think it unsafe to patronize firms who will break a contract so easily as the two we have just named.

Merchants Premium Stamp Company,

NOTICE:--If any of our Merchants, whose name appears in our Directory, gives or undertakes to give any other Trading Stamps, excepting the new Green Stamp, he is openly violating his contract with us, and you will do us a great favor by reporting the same to our store, 34 South Third St.

YOUR SUMMER HAT.

WHERE IT COMES FROM AND HOW IT IS CONSTRUCTED.

The Panama Made by the Indians of Central America—Woven With Great Skill and Deftness From the Fibers of the Seamless Screw Palm.

(Special Correspondence.)
Guayaquil, Ecuador, May 28.—Few people above the isthmus of Panama who wear the luxuriant and usually expensive panama hats, I imagine, know but little about their manufacture and composition. Although panama hats have been made by the Indians of Central America for 200 and possibly 300 years, it is only until comparatively recent years that they have been much in vogue in the United States, where they are now quite the fad for summer wear.

Formerly panama hats were worn upon round blocks, with a crease like that in a pair of trousers running through the center of the crown. The shape did not suit the fancy of fashionable young men, and their use was mainly confined to staid elderly gentlemen. Some years ago an ingenious dealer in this city, which is the shipping point of Ecuador, had a few dozen hats woven in the fedora or alpine shape. These he sent to London, and one of them was presented to the Prince of Wales. Their success was instantaneous and overwhelming, and they sold at a tremendous figure.

Later panama hats of this shape were sent to the United States, where they were received with no less favor than in England. The demand for panama, alpine and fedora hats has grown marvelously since then, as indicated by the immense shipments from this and other Central American ports. The genuine panama hats are made by the Indians—old men, women and children—in the interior of Ecuador, from whence the best come, and of Colombia and Peru. They are woven of the leaves of the seamless screw palm, which the Indians call the jilijapa (pronouncing it hippyappa) and which naturalists call the Carludovica palmata.

This plant grows profusely in a wild state all over the isthmus of Panama and elsewhere in Colombia, in Ecuador and Peru and to a considerable extent on the islands of Jamaica and Porto Rico. The leaves, plaited like a fan, are borne on three cornered stalks six to fourteen feet high. They are about four feet in diameter and deeply cut into four or five divisions, each of which is again cut. The leaves are gathered while young and stiff, and the parallel veins are removed, after which they are split into shreds, but not separated at the stalk end, and immersed in boiling water for a short time and bleached in the sun.

These fibers, which are a half inch thick and a yard or so in length, are rolled by the weavers from either edge, thus leaving no raw or exposed edges. Thus is produced a round yard long straw. This is pressed out flat, when it is ready to be woven by deft and skillful fingers.

The Indians sit on the ground in front of their huts to work, the hat block, a wooden sphere of the shape desired, between their knees. The straw is pliable, and every moment they dip it in water. They begin to weave from the center of the crown, and their little circular beginning, which is the size of a ten cent piece, is called the button.

The weaver can work by natural light during only the first hour of day-break and the last hour of twilight. Through the rest of the day the sun is so warm and the air so dry that the fibers of the palm become brittle and break in the weaving, but at dawn and at twilight the air is sufficiently moist to permit of the making of hats of an ordinary fineness, though the extremely fine ones—those which cost, for instance, $150—are woven by artificial light.

The real panama hat woven from end to end by hand can be made only by those born and bred to the art. Children are set at work on little native hats of coarse plain fiber as soon as they are five or six years old. They pursue the work daily, advancing each season to a fiber of finer quality, and in twelve or thirteen years they are able to make panamas of a fairly good sort. The majority never become expert enough to weave the finest hats, which are produced only by real artists after months of patient and painstaking labor. HAYS DUBOIS.

HE GOT THE GOODS.

A Business Deal Between Potter Palmer and A. T. Stewart.

"At the time of the civil war," said an old merchant, "Potter Palmer was in the dry goods business in Chicago, and Levi Z. Leiter and Marshall Field were working for him. Palmer wasn't so well known, but he had a good reputation in the trade, and he didn't have to introduce himself when he called on old A. T. Stewart to buy some goods. After some dickering they agreed upon the price, and Palmer calmly said that he would take about $100,000 worth. It was a little larger bill than Stewart exactly cared to sell young Palmer on credit, but he concluded to make the deal and told him to come in the next morning and arrange some final details. That night some big war news came, and it didn't require any declaration by the government to inform every dry goods man in the country that the price of goods would take a big spurt up. Stewart recognized it as soon as he had the news, and he immediately thought of Palmer. He also thought of the big bill of goods Palmer had bought of him. It didn't particularly tickle Stewart, that thought didn't. But it required only a few scratches of his red head to fix things to his satisfaction. He would simply tell Palmer that he was sorry, but that he didn't feel that he could sell such a big bill on credit, and as he knew that Palmer couldn't raise the cash immediately, why, that would end it, and the sale would be off. Well, young Palmer called early, and Stewart greeted him in his very abrupt manner, telling him how sorry he was, etc., but really he didn't think it wise business to extend credit for such an amount."

"Just how much does the bill come to?" said young Palmer, seemingly sorrowful-like.

"Just $110,000," Stewart replied, and then he straightway gulped for breath as young Palmer drew an immense pocketbook from his inside vest pocket and, opening it, counted out 110 thousand dollar bills and, laying them quietly on Stewart's desk, said: "If you will kindly count them and give me a receipt, I'll be obliged, as I must take the next train home. Ship the goods soon as you can, and when you're out our way drop in. Always glad to see our friends."—New York Times.

AROUND THE HOUSE.

If marks and stains are on papered walls, try French chalk on a piece of dry bread gently rubbed in.

To keep hardwood floors smooth and clean rub them with waste and warm paraffin oil and polish with dry waste.

Muslin curtains may be rendered less inflammable by rinsing them in alum water—two ounces of alum to one gallon of water.

To clean mirrors dip a cloth in methylated spirits and rub on the mirror. Allow it to dry on before polishing with a soft duster.

Galvanized iron pails for drinking water should not be used. The zinc coating is rapidly acted upon by the water, forming a poisonous oxide of zinc.

Make a splendid furniture polish by taking a wineglassful of olive oil, one of vinegar and two tablespoonfuls of alcohol; apply with a soft cloth and polish with flannel.

Rugs, mats or carpets can be cleaned thoroughly by generously sprinkling on them yellow cornmeal that has been well dampened in clean soapsuds or weak ammonia water. Sweep off in a few minutes.

Sensory Transmission.
It has been found that sensation is not absolutely instantaneous, but that a very minute time elapses as it travels along the nerves. Therefore, if a person put his finger to a heated iron or in the blaze of a candle there is a certain almost inconceivably small space of time, say the one-thousandth part of a second, before the brain knows of the burn. Now, suppose a man with an arm long enough to reach the sun. From the known rate of sensory transmission that man would have to live more than 190 years after touching the great luminary before he would know that his fingers had been scorched!

AMUSEMENTS.

Manager Lingafelter has a most excellent bill to offer this week in the Shayne Vaudeville club which is composed of a number of people who are artists in their various lines. The Casino was filled at both performances Sunday and many were turned away at the evening performance.

The great Spaulding, equilibrist and hand balancer, is fine. His exhibition is one of the highest order and was received with much applause. His high jump from the table to the floor and landing on his hands is fine, very difficult, but he performed it with an ease that shows him to be an artist.

The musical artist, singer and dancer Esmathilda dances, plays and sings equally well and is a good number. The black-face comedians, Conley and Stone are there with the goods. Their dancing was fine and they were vigorously applauded. Fern Melrose, the prima donna soprano has an excellent voice.

Lester and Reno, the comedy acrobats are well known to Newark audiences, having been here last season. Their acting is of the best sort and their funnyisms brought down the house. They received a number of encores.

Visitors at the park will witness a good show and will be well repaid for going. The views in the kitescope were changed Sunday evening and are very interesting. One of an ostrich farm is of particular interest.

THE W. C. T. U.

At the last meeting of the W. C. T. U. the Bible reading was in charge of Mrs. Billman, who selected the 13th chapter of First Corinthians and commented on the 12th verse. "For now we see through a glass, darkly; but when face to face; now I know in part, but then I shall know even as also I am known." At the close of these helpful exercises, the president, Mrs. Sisson, called the members to order for business. The secretary, Mrs. Hansberger, called the roll which was responded to with scripture verse. After the reading the minutes of the previous meeting a letter was read from the State officers. Reports of officers and superintendents were next in order. Mrs. Watson, Superintendent of Literature, reported thirty-five papers placed in the B. & O. club room, thirty at the depot, 94 leaflets distributed. Miss Jennie Cool of the L. T. L., reported good attendance and order. These meetings are held every Sunday at 2:30 o'clock at Plymouth Congregational church. Send in the children.

Mrs. Berry, Superintendent of Railroad work, reported two meetings as being held each month at the B. & O. shops. On April 10th the meeting was held by Rev. J. C. Schindel. Many expressed themselves as being helped at these meetings.

Mrs. Brown, Superintendent of Prison Work, reported meetings held every Sunday at both prisons. A majority of the prisoners are attentive and were very grateful for the many pages of literature distributed at each meeting.

Receiving the new members was very impressive and most heartily welcomed by the Union.

Other interesting reports were listened to, which space will not permit mentioning.

On next Tuesday the regular meeting has been set apart as Flower Mission Week. Mrs. Charles Hillier, Superintendent of this department, requests all who can to bring or send flowers to the First M. E. church at 2:30. The flowers will be tied with a white ribbon and a scripture verse attached and sent out to the sick and unfortunate. Let as many ladies as can do so, come in carriages and assist in distributing these tokens of love.

Your Vacation in Colorado? Why Not

We are going to sell tickets at less than half fare this summer so as to enable people of moderate means to spend their vacations in glorious Colorado.

It is by no means a country of high prices. Our handbook tells all about the hotels, boarding-houses and ranches, their prices, names and addresses of the proprietors, attractions within reach, rates for livery, the fishing and hunting, charges for guides, etc. Ask for a copy. No charge. And with the book we will enclose a circular telling about the railroad ticket rates and trains. It takes only one night on the road to go from Chicago to Colorado. There is no place in the world like Colorado for beauty of mountain scenery and perfection of climate—it is ideal. I have never known anyone to return from Colorado disappointed. Where could you find a more delightful place to spend your vacation?

RAILROAD NEWS

Northern Michigan Resorts.

Mr. Frank Bartholomew, ticket agent for the B. & O. railroad at this point, has just received from Mr. G. C. Allen, traveling passenger agent of the G. R. & I. railroad, a handsome folder, beautifully illustrated with views of the many delightful summer resorts of Northern Michigan, and furnishing those who anticipate a visit to this delightful region with full information on every subject pertaining to that part of the country. The B. R. & I. railroad will make a specialty this season in furnishing the public with low rates and special privileges. Mr. Allen, who is a thorough gentleman in every respect, was in the city a few days ago, and says that those who anticipate spending the summer in recreation, can find no more beautiful or healthy place to spend it than in Northern Michigan, some of the principal resorts of which are located on the G. R. and I. railroad. By writing to Mr. Allen at Grand Rapids, he will gladly furnish you with all desired information.

Showed It Clearly.

A man who was called on to address a Sunday school in a Pennsylvania town took the familiar theme of the children who mocked Elijah on his journey to Bethel—how the youngsters taunted the poor old prophet, and how they were punished when the two she bears came out of the wood and ate forty-two of them. "And now, children," said the speaker, wishing to learn if his talk had produced any moral effect, "what does this story show?"

"Please, sir," came from a little girl well down in front, "it shows how many children two she bears can hold!"

MEAT ONCE A DAY.

Theory That Average Family's Food Is Too Heavy For Health.

Our mistakes in eating begin with our breakfast. In many families, perhaps in most, this meal commences with fruit and cereal, goes on to chops and potatoes, hot breads and coffee and concludes with griddlecakes and sirup. At noon, when a man's stomach is only beginning to rest from all this, he has a steak, more potato, bread and butter, coffee and pie, while at home his wife has a slice of cold meat, a cup of tea and a piece of cake. At night the two sit down to dinner, with roast beef, potatoes and bread and butter as the staples of the meal.

Now, no one but a woodchopper or a hunter can possibly eat meat—above all, red meat, such as beef and mutton—three times a day without inviting uric acid to come and take up its dwelling in his system. Nor can he eat white bread, potatoes and pastry day after day without inviting dyspepsia. One has only to let a doctor trace back these diseases to their source to be quite certain on these points.

But if we decide to give up these things, determine to have meat and potatoes only once a day and red meat only once a week; if we taboo pastry, the starchy vegetables, the white bread and heavy sweets, what have we left for the family meals? "Nothing," the distracted housewife will exclaim despairingly at first thought, but really the matter is not as difficult as it seems.

In planning the meals on this basis there is, first of all, chicken, which is invaluable, for it may be cooked in a dozen different ways and seen a new dish each time, and turkey, duck and goose as well. Then there are the white meats, lamb and veal; fish in its multitudinous forms; there are game in its season, vegetables and fruits, with numberless varieties of soups, and the simple sweets, which are made principally from milk and cream, and all forms of breads.—Harper's Bazar.

SUMMER DRESS FOR MEN

Correct Fashions For Morning and Evening Wear.

NOVELTIES IN FANCY SHIRTS.

Some Cost From $5 to $20 Apiece.

White Plaited Bosoms to Be the Rule With Dinner Coats—Large Straw Hats and Diaphanous Socks. Passing of Tan Shoes.

The luxury of man's dress is not altogether confined to winter attire. In the mere matter of linen men are able to spend quite as much if they care to go in for nothing but the finest.

The summer shirts that men wear may cost as much as $20 apiece if the wearer insists on the combinations of silk and linen that are much in vogue with men to whom price is no object, says the Chicago Inter Ocean. These shirts are embroidered with a monogram, and with them are to be had the short drawers, also embroidered with a monogram, which cost the same amount.

Not all of these combinations are so expensive. The colored shirts may be had for $5, although the fine thin goods used for the lightest summer wear cost $6 and $7. With these go neither garments costing $3 a suit. They are made to order usually, but are to be had in some stores ready made in the sizes that come in the ordinary white goods.

The shirts worn this summer vary little in pattern from those of the last few years. They are still made with broad plaits or, if the wearer prefers, with the narrow plaits. The dark buttons as well as those colored to match the shirt have gone out of style. So have the very striking colors and combinations of the bright shades which were popular several years ago.

For evening wear with a smoking jacket the shirts with soft white plaited bosoms are to be worn more than they were last year, when they first came into notice here. They are to be the rule with dinner coats this season and are certainly more suited to their purpose than are the stiff shirts in summer.

It is a misfortune for summer wear that the dark waistcoat and the tie are not abolished. The dinner coat is meant to be not only an informal garment in summer, but a cool one as well. There is, however, little possibility of coolness in the thick waistcoat and the black tie. But it has been decreed that the black waistcoat and the black tie are parts of the dinner suit that are not to be dispensed with.

Men are not likely to wear with this summer evening dress the patent leather pumps which would be thought necessary under the same circumstances in winter. It is much better form to wear what are called low quartered patent leather shoes. They have not the formality of the patent leather pumps which are so essential a part of full evening dress.

The tendency to return to a larger straw hat is marked again, and the passion for getting the smallest kind of a hat will no longer inspire the modish youth of the city. The hats will also be of rougher straw than they have been for several seasons. The brims are broader. The gray soft hat is the popular substitute for the straw on cool days and holds its own against all attempts to introduce the brown, which is becoming to so many more men.

Men may also be luxurious in the matter of summer socks to an almost limitless extent. Thin, diaphanous openwork silk socks cost as much as $12, and from that price down they range to fair imitations of openwork silk to be had at half a dollar.

The tan leather shoe is a thing of the past in spite of all its advantages for summer wear. The low black shoes are still the fashion for men; although it could never be considered good form for men of more than a certain age to wear them; tied with the broad strings in which the youth of the land is now reveling. The very baggy trousers turned up over the shoes and the broad shoestrings conspicuously tied are the earmarks of a certain type of city dude who is bad enough, but very much worse when imitated by an older man.

Last year it was first seen that a bit of the colored waistcoat showing at the top of the coat was an attractive novelty in dress. That style was very well in its way until tailors of a certain kind began to cut coats so low that there was visible half an inch of the brown or yellow waistcoat. That was enough to make men who dress carefully button their coats so tightly that no part of their waistcoat could by any possible chance be seen, and the end of the fashion among well dressed men is in view.

The single breasted brown and khaki waistcoats are still the most popular, although black and white stripes are also seen in the shops, and they are inexpensive enough to be within the reach of every man who cares to give a variety to dress by these adornments.

The Coronation Bible.

The exact form which the new coronation Bible shall take has now been decided upon, says the London Globe. The volume upon which the king will take the oath is bound in red velvet, while the corners and the clasps are made of gold. The royal arms are stamped on both of the covers. All the details of this Bible have been copied from the book used at the coronation of Queen Victoria, which has been specially loaned to the Oxford University Press for this purpose. The coronation Bible will afterward become the property of the bishop of Winchester in virtue of his position as prelate of the Order of the Garter.

The May Hetuck is out and it is hoped the June number will soon be out. A great deal of expense has been gone to in order to make this number an unusually fine one. In it will be cuts of the faculty, editor-in-chief and senior class. It will also contain many interesting articles. The price for this month will be fifteen cents a copy.

The seniors and juniors are certainly up to date this year, really more so than their predecessors, as they will have printed programs for their dances with the names of the pieces played by Marsh's orchestra. The seniors programs will have black covers with gold pencils and letterings, their class colors, while the juniors whose colors are green and white will have white covers with green pencils. On the cover will be the class flower, which is the carnation.

BOWSER BUYS CATNIP

REMINDS HIM OF BYGONE DAYS AND HE PLANTS IT IN THE BACK YARD.

The Old Fellow Is Filled With Sentiment—Hundreds of Cats Approve of His Action, and He Is Overwhelmed in the Usual Manner.

[Copyright, 1902, by C. B. Lewis.]

HERE were a softness and a sadness in Mr. Bowser's face as he came home the other evening, and Mrs. Bowser was puzzled to tell whether he had found a nickel on the street corner or heard of the death of a cousin. After dinner, during which he mentioned his childhood days and sighed over the passing of years, he proceeded to explain.

"Do you know that we have become cold hearted, indifferent and selfish?" he asked as he heaved a sigh and shook his head in a solemn way.

"Not in particular," replied Mrs. Bowser, who remembered that she had fed four tramps within a week.

"But we have, just the same. How often, as we sit here at an evening, do we call up and discuss the days of our childhood, of our boyhood and girlhood, of the dear old homes that sheltered us before we went out into the world? Not once in ten years. My father and mother are dead as well as your father."

"And what else?" she asked as he paused.

He suddenly remembered that her mother was still living and was wondering why death had not also claimed her. He thought it best not to say anything about it, however, and went on:

"And the dear old homes have passed into the hands of strangers. Do we ever speak of the gardens, the meadows, the old pear trees, the lanes and the orchards? Never. There are the hills we used to slide down in winter, the brooks we paddled in when summer came, the groves with their swings and the big walnut trees shading the front porch, but we never recall them. Instead of that we sit here and read or play euchre or go to the theater, and our hearts grow hard and selfish. We ought to be ashamed of ourselves."

Mr. Bowser got up and wiped at the corner of his eye and walked around, and the cat came out from under the piano and sat up and looked solemnly at the figure of the carpet.

HE DASHED FORWARD WITH A YELL.

"And what happened today to start this train of thought?" asked Mrs. Bowser after awhile.

"The merest trifle," replied Mr. Bowser. "On the street I saw a vendor of flowers. Among his flowers he had two bunches of catnip. The instant I got the odor of it I was carried back to my boyhood days. In our homely old garden we had thyme and hollyhocks and pinks and creeping Charlie and catnip. You must remember catnip?"

"Yes."

"The scent of it comes to me through all these long years. I remember nothing of the past so vividly as catnip."

"They didn't make you eat catnip soup when you were a boy, did they?" she asked.

"Madam," answered Mr. Bowser as he stopped before her and glared, "don't run this thing into burlesque! If you have got a brickbat where your heart ought to be, I haven't. I am still a human being, although you have tried your hardest to make me a man of stone."

"Well, you saw two bunches of catnip."

"I did, and I bought them at once. I have brought them home, and I am now going to plant them in our back yard. I am going to have something around to recall the happy days of the past. I don't want to forget that I was once young and innocent hearted—By thunder, but that cat's got a bone in her throat and is choking to death!"

The cat had one eye cocked up to the ceiling and was gurgling and choking, but as Mr. Bowser stepped forward she made a dive under the lounge, and Mrs. Bowser quietly said:

"She often does that when she's amused."

"Oh, she does! Then there's something to amuse her, I take it. Let her do any more gurgling around here to-night and I'll wring her old neck! You and the cat make a nice pair!"

"Then you are going to plant the catnip in the back yard?" queried Mrs. Bowser.

He made no reply, but, getting the parcel from the front hall, he passed out of the back door and looked around for a suitable spot.

"Is it anything that's going to swell up and bust up and tear the house down?" anxiously inquired the cook.

"No, my good woman. Didn't you ever hear of catnip?"

"Seems as if I did. Didn't the Spanish blow up the Maine in Havana with the same, bad luck to 'em?"

Mr. Bowser smiled in his benign and paternal way and set about the work of planting, and in ten minutes the job was done. Then he stood back and surveyed the plants with a mixture of sadness and gratification and said to himself:

"Remembrances of the happiest days of my life, days before I met Mrs. Bowser! When I feel that mercy, pity and charity are being crowded out of my heart, I will come out here and sniff the fragrant odor of this catnip. 'Tis but a homely plant, but 'tis full of sweetest memories."

Then he returned to the sitting room to say to Mrs. Bowser:

"I want to give you and the cat and the cook fair warning that if I come home tomorrow evening and find that catnip damaged or missing there will be a row around here."

"Why should you say that?" she asked.

"Because you have no sympathy with me. The past does not appeal to you. I don't believe you call up old times once a year. Should an old tramp come to the door and prove to be a playmate of your childhood, you'd hit him in the eye with a cold potato instead of clapping his hand."

Mrs. Bowser went up stairs and left him reading his paper, and half an hour had passed when a wild, weird yowl from the back yard raised what little hair he had on his head. It also brought the family cat out from under the lounge, and her eyes glared and her tail grew bushy.

"By John!"

His exclamation was cut short by a still wilder yowl, followed by a rattling and a banging on the back fences. Then came six other yowls and rattles and bangs, and the voice of Mrs. Bowser called down:

"You'd better go out and see to your catnip! There's more than a thousand cats on the fences!"

"By thunder, but I'll murder 'em to the very last one!" shouted Mr. Bowser, as, followed by the excited and meowing cat, he rushed down stairs and out into the yard.

There were not a thousand cats. There were only 900. They were scampering across the yard, roosting on the fences, fighting ten deep over the catnip plants. He picked up a spade and hit Philpot, threw away runs by stupid work on the bases. On several occasions men got first base with no outs or only one out, only to use there.

Two men were thrown out on safe hits to right field by fast fielding of Powell, who got the ball to first ahead of the runners.

Denison's errors were not costly. Flannagan fumbled a grounder which cost nothing. The error by Philpot was a wild throw to first after making a phenomenal stop of an apparently safe hit. Barton reached the ball and muffed it, many thinking the error should have gone to him, but under the rules of scoring it was Philpot's. Barton had to jump from his base and the throw was swift. A baseman is never given an error on any ball thrown in such a manner that he has to reach for it and leave his base, even if he muffs the throw. Wooster's two errors were very costly being responsible for all of Denison's runs.

There was a large crowd in attendance at the game, including a number of Wooster alumni and others from Newark. The game was played on the new athletic field just across the T. & O. C. tracks from the depot. It is a model field for base ball and other sports.

Arrangements were made to keep the crowd off the field, which were greatly appreciated by the scorers. By police aid it is possible to keep a crowd back from the playing field, but this is inadequate to make gentlemen of them. They would hurl personal insults at the Wooster manager and players in a most disgusting manner.

Tollis, the negro catcher for Wooster was an especial mark for the insane, childish and cruel remarks of the students on the field. This came in poor grace from the undergraduates of a college which never did, nor does now discriminate against playing negroes.

Barnet, a negro, was one of the team's best players in the early 90's, and now Romeo Johnson, who is as black as the ace of spades, is prominent in football and some other athletics.

If the students at Granville would stop to realize that they are giving their team all the worst of it by these unsportsmanlike actions, they would stop them. Granville will increase its reputation as an undesirable college town to send a team representing another school. To the students: Root to your heart's content, yell and encourage your team, but to hurl insulting personal epithets such as "kill the nigger," "knock his black head off Phil," etc., does not help your team to victory and stamps you as rowdies and cowards.

The members of the team act as gentlemen sportsmen, and it would be unjust to them to even intimate that they encourage rowdism in their partisans, but they might make it plain to the student body that such actions are not approved by them.

It must be said to Tollis credit, that his gentlemanly behavior in spite of the cowardly insults, should have put his tormentors to shame.

Umpire Art Francis of Columbus, gave the most perfect satisfaction. Francis' work is very high class, and he is capable of handling the indicator in very fast company.

IN THE FIELD OF SPORT.

Denison Downed Wooster at Granville.

SCORE OF SATURDAY'S GAME WAS 4 TO 1.

TWO GAMES PLAYED TODAY.

Alumni and Denison Boys Contest on New Athletic Field Tomorrow Afternoon.

Every resident of Granville knew before Saturday that Captain Winchester, of the Denison team, was a great ball player. On many occasions they have seen him help his team to victory by good batting, intelligent base running or sensational fielding, and they always expect him to play great ball, which he does. But no one ever saw a player execute a more marvelous fielding feature than Winchester did in the fifth inning of the game on Saturday between Denison and Wooster at Granville, and the captain's friends and admirers were for an instant dumbfounded at the great play which saved the score from being tied at least.

With two on bases Blaser of Wooster came to bat. He straightened out one of Philpot's swift benders, and the ball started on a line between center and left fields, like a shot from a cannon. Winchester started across centerfield and gave chase, but no one expected that he could do more than field the ball in rapidly. While at full speed he leaped sideways into the air and pushed out his ungloved right hand.

The men on bases chased around followed by the batter. The surprise was inexpressible for a moment that Winchester had actually made the catch, retreating the side. Then pandemonium broke loose and the visiting players joined in the great ovation given the modest center fielder for his magnificent catch.

Winchester is one of the best ball players ever seen in Granville, and best of all he is a quiet, unassuming gentleman and a fine student. Denison can ill afford to lose him as he graduates this year.

Out side of the great catch of Winchester Philpot's pitching, and the work of Whitcraft at short for Wooster, were features.

Wooster, besides being unable to hit Philpot, threw away runs by stupid work on the bases. On several occasions men got first base with no outs or only one out, only to use there. Two men were thrown out on safe hits to right field by fast fielding of Powell, who got the ball to first ahead of the runners.

GREAT GAME TUESDAY.

Granville, O., June 9.—Many of the alumni are coming to town today and there is every indication that the attendance of former students at the commencement season will be greater than ever before. The classes of 1892 and 1897 will both hold reunions here this week. Tomorrow at 3 p. m. a ball game is to be played between the regular Denison team and an alumni team made up largely of the boys who composed the team that gave Denison fame in the early nineties. For the alumni tomorrow afternoon Charles H. Bosler is to pitch, while Jimmy Outcalt will wear the mask. F. W. Withoft will be at his old station on second while Fred Hutson, Struble, "Bottle" Jones and Chas. Barker are down for positions on the team but two places are held open till tomorrow as some of the other crack players of bygone days will probably arrive. The game is for the benefit of the new athletic park. It will be a hummer.

CORONATION PLANS

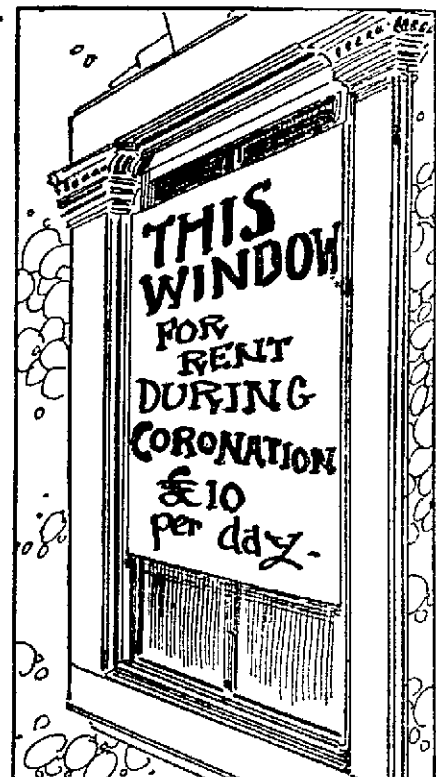

LONDON UNDERGOING A REMARKABLE CHANGE IN APPEARANCE.

Conservative Citizens Incensed at the Treatment of Westminster Abbey and the City's Follies—Mock Procession of Royalty.

[Special Correspondence.]

London, June 3.—The preparations for the coronation go on apace, and as the day for the great pageant draws nearer the prices for windows from which to view the royal procession rise with leaps and bounds. Thousands of dollars are being paid for the rental of choice positions a remarkable contrast to the cost in the days of the Charles and James monarchs.

One man, Dr. Henry S. Lunn, has effected a "corner" in seats, having secured accommodations for 20,000 people exclusive of those who will find positions on the stands he is to erect at various places along the route, all of which tends to make owners rub their hands with a smug satisfaction, for it is a long time since they have had an opportunity to increase their revenues with so little trouble to themselves.

To the average Londoner, however, the preparations and not the prices are of leading interest at present. Spectacular triumphs are being arranged on an unprecedented scale. The streets will be decorated with arches and bunting in a way that will make even blasé noblemen open their mouths in wonder. What parades, games, luncheons, banquets and theatrical entertainments coronation week will be one mad carnival of joy, and now that peace has been proclaimed the festivities will assume the aspect of a national rejoicing. Westminster abbey is already in the hands of carpenters and decorators, and on coronation day the staid old edifice will be scarcely recognizable.

Indeed lovers of old London are bitterly deploring what they term the "vandalism and desecration" connected with the preparations in the abbey, but the dean, Rev. Dr. Bradley, declares that the actual fabric of the place will not be in the least endangered by the enormous wooden structures now being erected within its venerable walls. One thing certain, however, is that nothing more hideous can be imagined than the huge exterior stands which hide the noble buttresses and disfigure the delicate stone tracery.

Another ground for protest, and an excellent one, is the demolition of trees at various points along the route. London at best is poor in foliage, and the work of the woodmen has been followed by howls of execration from disgruntled citizens.

An interesting phase of the preparations is the plan for handling the millions of people who will throng the line of march. It was at first proposed to call in provincial policemen to aid urban brethren, but this has been abandoned, for the powers that be appreciate the fact that the average cockney, while he will stand much from the country policemen, will bitterly resent being told to "move on" by policemen with a Yorkshire accent.

Citizens are this week to be treated to a rehearsal of the coronation procession, which will give them a very amusing entertainment. The attendants and the horses are practically the same as will take part in the actual parade. Coaches and brakes represent the elaborate state equipages, and grooms and outriders play the parts of the notable personages who will attend their majesties. The rehearsal includes the picking up of passengers at Buckingham palace, their alighting at Westminster abbey, etc., all of which is very funny indeed, especially to a citizen of a republic, such as your humble servant. owns and controls machinery, patents and processes for manufacturing all grades of paper, food and by-products from the waste corn stalks. This waste in the corn belt of the U. S. amounts to over 16 million tons in 1900. This enterprise will create more wealth than the utilization of the once used cotton seed. It will add $100 million to all this waste corn field tonnage, giving pulp for the paper industry. It will save 100,000 tons of labor and new freight to railroads. Every pound of paper pulp is made from vegetable fiber. The timber for pulp in the U. S. is nearly exhausted. Paper manufacturers are now coming into Canada for the supply. Every paper mill in this country will use this pulp. It is now being sold in this country at 10 cents per ton and in this feed. Manufacturers of celluloid, leather and rubber substitutes, insulating materials, bromine and pipe covering will be users of this cellulose.

FLAG DAY

June 14th Set as the Day to Celebrate Birth of Our National Emblem.

June 14 will be observed as "Flag Day" and an earnest appeal is made that it should be properly celebrated. That day is selected because on that date in 1777 Congress first adopted the Stars and Stripes as the national emblem. Citizens are urged to join in the celebration, and the public schools to conduct exercises. The circular closes as follows:

"The officers and members of our patriotic societies certainly will not be slow to spread the invitation. We appeal to school officers and school teachers and all our patriotic people and public officials, the young and those who train them, and all our fellow citizens. We call upon you to celebrate the day, each one, in the way he can best serve and have a part in celebrating flag day in 1902."

BACCALAUREATE

SERMON PREACHED SUNDAY BY
DR. E. W. HUNT

In Granville Baptist Church to the Senior Class of Denison University—The Address.

The Baptist church at Granville was filled Sunday morning, the occasion being the baccalaureate sermon to the class of young ladies and gentlemen, who are graduated this week from Denison university. Beautiful special music was rendered by the choir. Dr. Emory W. Hunt, President of Denison university, preached the sermon and took for his text a verse from the fourth chapter of the first epistle of Peter. "As every man has received a gift, even so let him minister the same one to another as good stewards of the manifold grace of God."

Dr. Hunt spoke in part as follows: "We are all prone to see special times to judge ourselves, but too often judge other people at all times. We are too ready to believe that between the present and our self appointed judgment day we can make up any moral deficits. But this is a mistake; every day is doomsday for some of us, and for many the day of crisis is past never to return. For the class before me, this is a day of special significance and decision for many; for others some days in the past was fraught with great responsibility, and at that time some course was decided upon for good or evil, on which today will not, cannot, have any effect."

"The text suggests two thoughts, gifts and services. All that we are or have is given to us. At this time and this place the most important gifts of which we think are home influences, a free country and education."

"By suffering and self-denials of which we know nothing, this country with its freedom of worship has come to us as a gift, a free heritage for which we should be profoundly thankful."

"By the sacrifices of home education for many is made possible. Good blood and home training are pure gifts. Our ancestry is nothing for us to be proud of. We had nothing to do with choosing them. Instead of insolent pride, when our noble ancestry is mentioned it should bring the blush of shame to our cheeks when we think of our shortcomings."

"There is going to be a new aristocracy. Instead of a man belonging to a certain aristocracy because of the nobility of his ancestry, his character of goodness, probity, and purity of life will be to us the guarantee of the royalty of the blood which courses through his veins."

"I once heard a man say 'I paid my way through college,' meaning that as he thought, he was not a beneficiary of the funds as some others. Foolish man. If he would only take the trouble to examine the treasurer's report of the institution which he attended, he would be surprised at the large proportion of the costs of his education that was a pure gift."

"In service we should administer the 'same' gifts, those which we have, and not waste time in wishing for the gifts of some one else. Let us do our duty, at all times, whatever that may be, ministering our gift as good stewards with fidelity and for the honor of God."

HIGH SCHOOL

BACCALAUREATE PREACHED BY
REV. J. C. SCHINDEL.

Absence of Board of Education and
Faculty Noted—Outline of Mr.
Schindel's Sermon.

The baccalaureate sermon to the class of 1902 of the Newark High school was preached Sunday morning at St. Paul's English Lutheran church by the pastor, Rev. J. C. Schindel. The church was beautifully decorated with the class colors, red and black, and on the altar a large bouquet of Marechal Niel roses, the class flowers.

The seats reserved for the members of the Board of Education were empty, which made the members' absence all the more painfully apparent. Nearly all of the teachers were also conspicuous by their absence or tardiness.

The careless indifference of the members of the board and the faculty is freely commented upon today.

Rev. Mr. Schindel took for his text Judges 12:6, "Say now Shibboleth," and he said Shibboleth.

"Shibboleth" was the pass word that would allow the passage of the fords of the river Jordan, held by an army, but by nature those who wished to cross could not articulate the "sh" and said Sibboleth. A battle resulted, bloody and decisive.

"You as individual members of this class, when you go out into the world will encounter theories, philosophies, and teachings antagonistic to a Christian's ideal life, such as materialism, and the critical processes now being launched against the word of God denying its inspiration. You should distrust any teacher or teaching that does not take God into account."

"When you enter this life to share its honors and achievements, the world will apply its Shibboleths. The physical world will demand a clean body; the social world wealth and culture, the commercial world honesty and integrity, the intellectual world mental balance and clear thinking."

"The Ephraimites could not pronounce the word Shibboleth, and we are equally unable to pronounce that demanded by God until we are taught by Christ and become regenerated through his saving blood. The blood of Christ should be our Shibboleth, and it will be all sufficient for this life and gain for us everlasting life to come."

"At the river of death will be required the last Shibboleth, and woe to him or her, who fails to properly pronounce it."

Newark And Eastern.

(Columbus Press.)

Manager Harry Young of the Columbus, Newark and Eastern Traction company, was in consultation with Directors Byrne and Philbrick Thursday in reference to the ordinance desired by that company for the right to enter Columbus. The ordinance will be required to conform to the stipulations of the board of public works and will probably be indorsed by that body.

The principal requirements are the insertion of the three-cent fare provisions, the coming in on the interurban loop and the proper safe guarding of the city's interests in the matter of schedule, speed, etc. Mr. Young said the ordinance was perfectly satisfactory to the company in most respects.
